RUNAWAY.—A milk wagon ran away, (that is, the horse hitched to it did) yesterday on Water street. The wagon ran against an old boiler and was poset, the milk cans were bursted and the milk spilled, the wagon dragged on its side to the foot of Monroe street, and the horse stopped. Nobody in the wagon, nobody hurt, and no tears abed over the spilt milk.

As we understand the city's contract with the Gas Company, anybody may lay down gas pipe wherever he can get leave to go without crossing streets or alleys. Each square may therefore have a private gas works, and everybody in the square may thus supply themselves if they choose. It is believed that gas may thus be made even in limited quantities much cheaper than it is furnished by the Gas Company. We suppose Capt. McLare's experiment will be a pretty fair test of this, and it will therefore be looked to with a good deal of interest by a community that has never yet known what it was to have

"vidder" (of which Tony Veller warns us always to "beware,") came to this city and established herself in a boarding house. A gentleman who shall be nameless having a handsome place for sale, the lady directly found him out. She visited has house and explored it from cellar to attic, and upon leaving said she would consider the matter of its purchase a few days. A few days there siter he called upon the lady, who came down to the parlor arrayed, like Solomon, "in all his glory." She asked him to name the very lowest cash figures, as she would buy for cash, and no other way. He did so, cash, and no other way. He did so, and she promised to advise him of her decision next day. Accordingly, next day she called upon him and apprised our expectant and somewhat anxions friend that, after due consideration, she had made up her mind not to purchase—just at present. The day following it was known that the lady's landlady had got out an attachment and seized her trunks for her board bill. The trunks were taken in charge by the officer serving the attachment, and she, over flowing with indignation, sought out the official who had issued the attachment and exploded her vials of wrath on his head. She informed him that the trunks were filled with jewels and other precious articles worth $10,000, and that she should hold somebody responsible for them. She offered to redeem them with a check on Boston for $10,000, but declined to recover them by paying the bill and costs, amounting to $20. She declared her purpose to resist the attachment, and the case was set for Mopday next. Yesterday, however, she thought better of it, paid the $20 and recovered her valuable jewels.

Whether she will renew negotiations for the purchase of our friend's home remains to be seen. At present he is unable to satisfy himself whether he was a victim of misplaced confidence. cash, and no other way... He did so, and she promised to advise him of her

A Negro Shat by a White Man with out provocation.

About alus o'clock on Wednesday night a negro lad named Richard Lum-mox, was shot, it is feared fearfully by an unknown white man, in fre on Centre street, East Wheeling. The facts as we have been able to ascertain them, are about the following:

them, are about the following:

Mr. Lummox, who was emplayed by Messrs, Logan, List & Co., at the Bridge Corner, tad been sent to the Post Office with their letters. There he fell in with a colored girl who lives in the family of Mr. Updegraff, with whom he became acquainted at Cumberland. He accompanied her home. They were alting together on the lower porch of Mr. Updegraff's house, when two white men, whom Lummox says he did not know, came along the street and came in. They told the girl they wanted to see Mr. Updegraff and told her to go in and tell him to come out. She replied that it was ne time of night to come to see him, but they could see come to see him, but they could see a him if they would call in the morning. After some parieying, however, it seems the girl got up and went in and Lummox started sway, without himself having passed a word with the intruders. Just as he turred away and before he had got out of the yard, one of the men drew a pistol and fired at him, the ball striking him in the left side. The reportbrought assistance to the spot. The wounded man was carried into the house, and he having recovered somewhat from the shock, and finding him able to walk, Mr. U. accompanied him first to Dr. Frissell's office, who being absent, they proceeded to the office of Dr. Cummins, by whom the wound was dressed. It was found that the ball had penetrated the left side, well back, not far from the region of the kidneys, and ranging downward had lodged. Dr. Cummins did not deem it prudent to probe the wound, and after it was dressed Lummox walked to his lodgings, the house of Mr. John Jackson, head of Fourth street. He was comparatively free from pain until yesterday afternoon, when he became much worse and suffered intensely. It is considered doubtful whether he will recover.

The girl says she did not know eith-an entries assessing, but it is thought by some that she is equivocating; and it is conjectured that some intimacy between her and one of them is at the bottom of the attempted murder. The notice are on their track and think out.

The girl having been discharged from her employment, left last evening for Cumberland. It seems to us so important a witness (one knowing what she is believed to know,) ought to be detained.

A WATCH is somewhat like the human murder was committed vesterday or the line of the C. & P. R. R., this time at Wellsville. There seems to be a mania for killing people up that way. There ought to be another mania shortly for hanging people.

I had for some months previous thought that a preparation having for its basis the inside bark of white pibe might be so compounded as to be very useful in diseases of the throat as to be very useful in diseases of the throws and lungs. To test the value of it in the case alluded to, I compounded a small quantity of the medicine that I had been planning. and lungs. To test the value of it in, the case alluded to T compounded asmall quantity of the medicine that I had been planning, and gave it in teaspoonful doses. The result was exceedingly gratifying. Within two days the irritation of the throat was removed, the cough isubsided and a speedy cure was effected. Soon after this, I sent some to a lady in Londonderry, N. H., who had been suffering for some weeks from a bad cough on the suffering for some weeks from a bad cough on the suffering for some weeks from a bad cough on the suffering for some weeks from a bad cough on the suffering for some weeks from a bad cough on the suffering for some weeks from a bad cough on the suffering of the suffering telled and sent for nore.
